Northeast Minneapolis Arts District ceramic/mosaic artists’ creations helped Minneapolis-St. Paul International Airport win awards for best bathrooms (with 40 percent of the vote) and most recently, best airport in their size category.

In March 2017, the Airports Council International announced the Twin Cities airport earned top honors for North American airports that service 25-40 million passengers a year. In November 2016, Delta Austin of Mercury Mosaics provided the murals: Jeana Sommers (right) helped on all aspects of fabrication and installation, and Jan Hohn of Hohn and Hohn (left) assisted on installation. A time-lapse video of the preparation is at https://youtu.be/TopMEPFPWuU and places them in context.

Left: Mercury Mosaics, Center: Sheryl Turolla’s murals: Jeana Sommers (right) helped on all aspects of fabrication and installation, and Jan Hohn of Hohn and Hohn (left) assisted on installation. A time-lapse video of the preparation is at https://youtu.be/TopMEPFPWuU and places them in context.

Northeast Minneapolis Arts District ceramic/mosaic artists’ creations helped Minneapolis-St. Paul International Airport win awards for best bathrooms (with 40 percent of the vote) and most recently, best airport in their size category.

In March 2017, the Airports Council International announced the Twin Cities airport earned top honors for North American airports that service 25-40 million passengers a year. In November 2016, Delta Austin of Mercury Mosaics provided the murals: Jeana Sommers (right) helped on all aspects of fabrication and installation, and Jan Hohn of Hohn and Hohn (left) assisted on installation. A time-lapse video of the preparation is at https://youtu.be/TopMEPFPWuU and places them in context.

Left: Mercury Mosaics, Center: Sheryl Turolla’s murals: Jeana Sommers (right) helped on all aspects of fabrication and installation, and Jan Hohn of Hohn and Hohn (left) assisted on installation. A time-lapse video of the preparation is at https://youtu.be/TopMEPFPWuU and places them in context.

Northeast Minneapolis Arts District ceramic/mosaic artists’ creations helped Minneapolis-St. Paul International Airport win awards for best bathrooms (with 40 percent of the vote) and most recently, best airport in their size category.

In March 2017, the Airports Council International announced the Twin Cities airport earned top honors for North American airports that service 25-40 million passengers a year. In November 2016, Delta Austin of Mercury Mosaics provided the murals: Jeana Sommers (right) helped on all aspects of fabrication and installation, and Jan Hohn of Hohn and Hohn (left) assisted on installation. A time-lapse video of the preparation is at https://youtu.be/TopMEPFPWuU and places them in context.

Left: Mercury Mosaics, Center: Sheryl Turolla’s murals: Jeana Sommers (right) helped on all aspects of fabrication and installation, and Jan Hohn of Hohn and Hohn (left) assisted on installation. A time-lapse video of the preparation is at https://youtu.be/TopMEPFPWuU and places them in context.